

SAYS TREASURY IS DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND

Michigan Senator Addressed Convention in Flint Today

Flint, Mich., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Assembling for the coming election "from every viewpoint x x x is the most important since the Civil War," United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, told the Republican state convention here today that Republicans confront "an opposition with the greatest campaign chest in all political history—to wit, the treasury of the United States."

"We confront," he said, "an opposition which, with the greatest army of press agents ever hired at public expense, actively covers up its greater errors by well-managed emphasis upon the lesser achievements with which it is rightly credited and which it would be absurd to deny."

Living On Own Fat
Senator Vandenberg said the battle with depression today than with America's neighbors who have played less bravely with patient medicines," and added: "We create more problems than we solve. There are more unemployed than ever. We are living on our own fat—and the fat is running lean."

Private business," said Senator Vandenberg, "must resume; there is no other way. It cannot resume—it cannot create jobs for workers and consumers for farm products—in the face of handicaps I have sketched. It cannot resume in the face of persistent threats of government competition."

MARYLAND APPEAL
Baltimore, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A platform promising closer cooperation with President Roosevelt's emergency program than has been given by Governor Ritchie was offered to the Republican state convention when it assembled here today.

The platform was endorsed in its entirety by Harry W. Nice, the Republican's choice for governor of Maryland. Although subject to change by the convention, it was expected to be accepted substantially as written.

The platform contained a frank appeal for the votes of Maryland Democrats. Not only did the Republican leaders promise to work with the Democratic national administration—in so far as their judgment and the welfare of the state would allow—but also stated at the outset:

Against Machine
"Our fight is not against the Democratic party but against the state Democratic machine."

"We need and solicit the assistance of those Democrats who have grown tired in the intolerable condition existing in their party."

The platform condemns "the failure and unwillingness of Governor Ritchie to cooperate with the President in his efforts to provide relief and aid recovery"—and pledges the Republican party to give such cooperation.

N. Y. CONVENTIONS
Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(AP)—New York state Republicans were called today to defend the "American system" of economic freedom and to sidetrack the "subversive and destructive course of the New Deal."

Sounding the keynote of the Republican state nominating convention, Representative Clarence E. Hancock of Syracuse, "keynoter" and temporary chairman, leveled his guns at the administrative policies and agencies of the Democratic administration, which he declared to be "a pedantocracy—a government by book-learning."

LEHMAN RENOMINATED
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman was renominated by the Democratic party today after a stirring address by former Governor Alfred E. Smith "the happy warrior," who joined with Franklin D. Roosevelt two years ago to form the Lehman nomination over Tammany opposition.

Scarcity of Oats for Seed in 1935 Foreseen by State
Urbana, Ill., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Illinois farmers were warned today of threatened scarcity in oats suitable for seeding next year's crop.

J. C. Hackleman of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, urged that oats harvested this year, the poorest crop in 56 years, as a result of chinch bugs and drought, should not be used to feed livestock if the grain is of good quality.

Present indications are there will not be enough oats in the corn belt next year to seed the normal acreage, Hackleman said.

Republicans Have Chance to Control New Illinois House
Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Republican leaders claim "better than an even chance" of winning control of the Illinois House of Representatives in the coming election.

A committee of seven members said yesterday they based their belief on a state survey of contested districts.

The group predicted that Republicans would elect more than 77 members, which is a majority, and that probably as many as 81 or 82 would be elected. There are contests this year in 28 districts.

STATE WARD'S DEATH DUE TO CLOT ON BRAIN

Chicago Man Suffers Fractured Skull in Fall in Seizure

Leroy Hofseas of Chicago, aged 29, epileptic patient at the Dixon state hospital, passed away at the institution hospital shortly before noon yesterday, his death resulting from an injury to the head sustained in a fall upon the cement floor in the laundry building during an epileptic seizure on Tuesday afternoon. He appeared to recover from the seizure Tuesday afternoon but about 2 o'clock yesterday morning suffered a second seizure from the effects of which he never regained consciousness.

Hofseas sustained a cut on the back of the head in the fall at the laundry where he was a member of a work detail and was removed to the dispensary where the injury, which appeared slight, was dressed, after which he returned to his ward and appeared to completely recover. Following his passing about noon yesterday, members of the staff of physicians at the institution conducted an autopsy at the Staples mortuary, which resulted in the finding of a skull fracture and a blood clot, which caused death. Coroner P. M. Banker conducted an inquest over the remains at 9 o'clock this morning, the jury's finding being in accordance with the testimony of the physicians who performed the autopsy. Hofseas was committed to the Dixon institution from Cook county in June, 1933 and the body was taken to Chicago today for interment.

ROOSEVELT TO HAVE ANOTHER CHAT ON RADIO

Plans Speech for Sunday Night; Refuses to Answer Queries

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" with the nation next Sunday night is expected to point the direction of the new deal for this fall and winter.

The White House kept the subject of his radio talk a secret today, but among possible topics these were considered likely:

The future of NRA, a word or two by way of reply to foes; perhaps an elaboration of the president's opinion that some business leaders have too many "inhibitions."

This feeling of his that industry should take more of a position of leadership in the recovery drive was underscored yesterday in an interview in which he made plain that he planned no direct reply to the list of questions propounded to him by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

May Seek Assurance
The queries sought a statement from him on expenditures, budget, balancing, currency stabilization and the government's part in business. The chamber's open letter spoke of public "apprehension" although the president plans no direct reply, some observers felt that he would seek in his radio speech to assure some business leaders that they are needlessly nervous.

The president will go on the air at 9 o'clock, Central Standard Time, speaking for about 20 minutes.

No Improvement Seen
Roosevelt, working on an evolutionary re-amping of the recovery agency from which Hugh S. Johnson has resigned, found the American Federation of Labor announcing that "there is not indication that the fall season will make any permanent improvement in the unemployment situation."

This report said that unemployment has been increasing up to mid-July, began to decrease with the fall pick-up in business. But the betterment was slight compared to last year, the federation indicated.

As against 800,000 reemployed in August, 1933, the figures for last month were set at 40,000. The federation said there were 5,385,000 jobless.

TWO DEATHS IN MOTOR STRIKE; POLICE ACTIVE

Woman Passenger and Bus Dispatcher are Violence Victims

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The state will ask murder indictments against three men who police said confessed to fatally injuring a bus dispatcher yesterday after being paid $10 by a union official, Assistant Prosecutor James A. Brown said today.

The case is that of James Kelly, 49, who was beaten and shot by a group of five men as he was en route home on a street car. His death was the second in 24 hours as the result of violence resulting from the six-week old bus strike.

Mrs. Mary Kennard, 65, died last night after she had been struck on the temple by a steel ball bearing thrown through a bus window. A coroner's jury today ascribed her death to "natural causes," finding that chronic heart disease was the immediate cause.

Three of Mrs. Kennard's friends objected to this verdict, but Dr. Chester C. Guy, coroner's physician, said the blow from the missile did not contribute to her death.

Climaxed Violence
The two deaths climaxed a day of violence in which at least three other persons were injured. The men who police say admitted assaulting Kelly are Arthur Semple, 39; John Bretschneider, 46; and Edward Randall, 34.

An inquest was begun today in Kelly's death, but postponed until October 11 at Prosecutor Brown's request. Brown said that he would take the case before the grand jury today, without waiting for the coroner's jury to act.

Assaults Escaped
The attack on Mrs. Kennard occurred on busy Michigan Avenue near 13th street, and her assailants, passengers in a north-bound automobile, were swalloped up in the traffic.

Earlier a man was shot and seriously wounded, a woman was injured by a brick hurled through a bus window, and a man was wounded when he attempted to avenge damage to a bus by tossing a small bomb into the street.

Hauptmann Held Under $100,000 Bonds When He Pleads Not Guilty

Accused Extortionist Seen by Lindbergh in Line-up Today

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Katherine Maurer, of 761 St. Ann's Avenue, the Bronx, today appeared to District Attorney Samuel J. Foley's office for assistance in locating her husband, John, who she said had disappeared since the case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann "broke."

BULLETIN
New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley today expressed the belief that Bruno Richard Hauptmann was the man "who went up the ladder" to the nursery in the Lindbergh home the night the baby was kidnapped.

Previously Foley was said by Charles F. Brodie, chief clerk in the Bronx district attorney's office, to have said he believed there was more than one kidnaper and that Hauptmann was among the kidnappers.

This statement was made by Brodie while Foley was away from his office for luncheon. Asked whether he could amplify in "any way" his statement, Foley said:

"I believe Hauptmann was not alone in the kidnapping. But I believe he was the man who went up the ladder."

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh made a surprise visit to the Bronx county building today and, disguised and in a line of detectives, viewed Bruno Richard Hauptmann, former German machine gunner charged with extorting $50,000 from the filer.

District Attorney Samuel J. Foley disclosed the meeting today. Hauptmann had pleaded not guilty to an indictment returned by a Bronx county grand jury yesterday charging extortion in the Lindbergh kidnap case.

Lindbergh entered the building unnoticed, and as a disguise wore a pair of horn-rimmed glasses and a cap.

"Col. Lindbergh," the district attorney said in announcing the meeting, "was met by several of my staff, early this morning in New Jersey and was driven to the county court building. He was taken by private elevator to my office. When he came in he wore horn-rimmed glasses and a cap. He was one of a line of detectives. The prisoner never knew he was Lindbergh."

He Made No Comment
The visit of Col. Lindbergh in the "line-up" at the district attorney's office lasted ten minutes, from 9:50 to 10 A. M. It resulted from a wish expressed by the filer to see the prisoner. During the "line-up" Lindbergh did not utter a word, Charles Brodie, chief clerk of the district attorney's office, announced after Foley had made the meeting public. Foley also said that Lindbergh did not comment afterwards either to Foley or any member of the prosecutor's staff.

The lineup caused a delay in arraignment of the prisoner before County Judge Lester W. Patterson. Hauptmann appeared in a daze when he was led before the bench, wearing a wrinkled light grey suit, a white shirt with the collar open and no tie. He had a stubby growth of beard and said nothing during the brief proceeding, which required five or six minutes.

Lawyer Enters Plea
His plea of "not guilty" was voiced by his counsel, James M. Fawcett, after Judge Patterson had opened "the case of the state of New York against Bruno Richard Hauptmann and his several aliases." The court announced that the arraignment was made on a bench warrant handed down yesterday at the same time that the county grand jury filed its indictment.

District attorney asked that the prisoner be held without bail. Then Fawcett voiced the "not guilty" plea and asked to be heard. Defense counsel referred to a section of the penal law of the state, quoting from it that bail is permissible in crimes of extortion, and asked that bail be set at $50,000 in the name of justice. Fawcett told the court that $50,000 was all that Hauptmann had been able to raise. During his plea Fawcett said that no case brought against Hauptmann in Germany had been proven to be a felony.

Record No Issue
"We are making no issue of defendant's alleged previous criminal record," Foley interjected. Judge Patterson then fixed the amount at $100,000.

Fawcett then made application for the bail to be reduced to $5,000. Court adjourned and the prisoner was led away.

After the arraignment had been concluded, Judge Patterson said that the next hearing date would be determined by the District attorney, "who has promised that the case will be put on as speedily as the interests of justice allow."

"Unless a defense attorney presents some valid reason for delay," Judge Patterson said, "the trial will go on at the time designated by the district attorney without further reference to the court. I imagine the case will come on for trial in a few days."

STORY OF STUDY OF YEARS BACKS FARMERS OF COMMUNITY TO BE GIVEN TREAT HERE SATURDAY

Back of the coming to Dixon of Charles F. Collinson, farm editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, to deliver his free lecture, "The Land of Milk—and Money," for farmers of Lee and adjoining counties at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon is a story of agricultural development, fostered by that newspaper, which is an outstanding achievement in American journalism.

It had its beginnings in the experiences of the publisher, F. E. Murphy, on his farm in the Red River Valley, in western Minnesota, during the post war depression of more than a decade ago.

It had its climax in the appointment of Mr. Murphy as American delegate to the world wheat conference in Geneva and London last year and in Rome last spring—a Republican publisher appointed by a Democratic president, because he was one of the best informed men in the country on the large and complex problem of wheat growing and general farming.

Publisher Murphy was raised on a large grain farm in St. Croix county, Wisconsin. His father, had grown wheat on a 1,000-acre farm which is still owned by the Murphy family.

He saw the wheat yields decline, however, and he fought the chinch bugs and other grain enemies that always follow in the wake of single crops.

Relief Rolls are Larger than When NRA was Initiated

Madison, Wis., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, asserted that there exists "a state of alarm, bewilderment and uncertainty which is growing in the public mind daily."

Taking issue with President Roosevelt's remarks in a recent speech at Green Bay, Wis., that confidence has returned to the country, the "Chicago" publisher told the Dane county Republican club yesterday that "the people are consumed with fear, lest in the future to measures more radical than any that have been tried in the past."

He charged the administration's farm policy with failure, asserting that the increase in the price of farm products "has been wholly due to a palloff scarcely produced by drought."

The publisher said that the NRA had, after one year's trial, resulted in larger federal relief rolls than when it was initiated.

FORMER BUREAU DOCTOR SOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT

Dr. Joseph B. Moran Involved in Saint Paul Kidnaping?

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Dr. Joseph B. Moran was sought today by federal agents for questioning in the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul.

Melvin H. Purvis, head of the federal bureau of investigation, yesterday confirmed reports that Moran was the object of widespread search, but refused to state his connection if any with the case.

"We want him for questioning, and we haven't got him yet," was Purvis' only comment.

From other sources it was learned that it was thought by investigators that a physician was hired by the kidnapers to care for Bremer, reported to have been ill at the time of the abduction last January.

Alvin Karpis and Arthur "Doc" Barker, southwestern gangsters, are sought for the actual kidnaping.

Moran, who has a reputation as a good physician, formerly practiced in LaSalle and Bureau counties in Illinois. He was sentenced to the penitentiary from LaSalle county in 1929 for abortion.

Paroled in 1930, he was returned to prison for violation of parole, but later freed in 1931. LaSalle county officials said that the hunt for Moran had been under way for three months.

Agnes Foster Wright Tells of Her Home

Elimination of clutter articles enhances the spaciousness of this hallway and living room in Mrs. Wright's town house.

Although few of these pieces match, the judicious use of covering fabrics and decorations gives Mrs. Wright's bedroom a richness that few matched suites attain.

Although the wall decorations are Persian, no effect has been made by Mrs. Wright to carry out the theme in furniture.

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

THE LORD is my Shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters; He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: For Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou annullest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Guard Against Drying of Skin By Fall Wind

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

These brisk autumn days, beautiful though they are and certainly excellent for the spirits, can play havoc with a complexion that has a tendency toward dryness. If your skin comes in this category, tell yourself again that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, get a jar of tissue cream and plan to do a nightly beauty routine that will eliminate the dry conditions and prevent football weather from making your skin lathery and unattractive.

Choose a tissue or nourishing cream that is rich and of a rather heavy consistency. One new kind, made by a cosmetician who specializes in the treatment of dry skins, smells luscious and really goes a long way toward keeping the skin soft and supple and preventing lines and wrinkles.

It is to be used after you've cleaned your face and throat, of course. Wash with soap and water and clean with cleansing cream before applying the richer cream. Smooth the tissue cream from the base of the throat upward to the hairline. Then, using a patten or your fingertips, pat it into your skin. Don't pat too hard, but don't stop until the cream has melted. Remember to pat upward and outward on the throat—only outward from the nose to the ears.

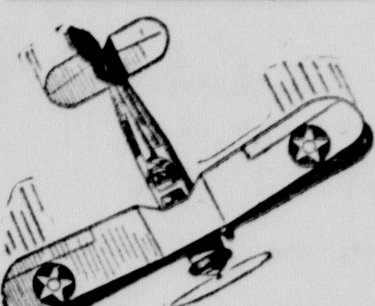

When you have finished, wipe off the excess, leaving a little around your eyes and go to bed. If you can't bear to sleep with cream on your skin, wipe off every trace and pat with cotton pads that have been soaked in skin tonic.

LINDBERGH SOLUTION A MORAL VICTORY.

Most Americans undoubtedly feel that the best news of the fall is the news that a break has finally come in the Lindbergh kidnapping.

This is the one crime above all others which the American people want to see avenged. The combination of its singular brutality and its tragic effect on the nation's most popular hero has had an emotional effect on the nation as a whole unlike that of any other case in modern times.

And yet the emotional satisfaction we get out of the solution is, after all, the least important part of it. Far more weighty is the fact that it restores to us a measure of our national self-respect.

Considered from all angles, the Lindbergh kidnapping was about the severest indictment of modern American civilization ever made.

Here was a young man of tremendous personal popularity; a man whom everyone in the country knew and liked and wished well, a man of wealth and position, who had founded a family and taken a home in the country to get a little of that privacy and happiness that every man wants.

Out of a clear sky, then, this man was struck by the most despicable of all crimes—the one crime that can be common only when society is helpless in the face of lawlessness.

The crime was committed and it went unpunished. The best-loved man in the nation had found that this was not a safe country in which to rear a child. Our grief and anger were impotent. The thing could not have happened in England, or France, or Germany; it was typically, terribly American.

Now, at last, comes retribution; and the fact is of tremendous importance, aside from the way it satisfies our desire to see a foul wrong avenged.

It shows that we have, after all, the kind of social organization which can do the hardest kind of protective work—getting on a cold trail, following a hundred worthless leads, keeping eternally vigilant, never forgetting or going to sleep, striking finally and effectively after a lapse of years.

In other words, we are not quite as disorganized as we were a few years ago. The Lindbergh case was our national low-water mark. Since then we have somehow managed to take a brace. We are not, any longer, the country in which the worst of all crimes can be committed with impunity.

SEPARATE AIR FLEETS.

It looks as if the scheme for a unified air service is not going to be realized—not, at least, in the immediate future.

President Roosevelt has put his approval on the Baker board's report on army aviation and this report disapproved the unified air corps plan. Instead, it calls for a steady building-up of the existing army air corps, with the Navy Department left to develop its air force separately.

Here is a highly technical question on which it is very hard for a civilian to form an intelligent opinion. On the face of it, the arguments for a unified air force seem very strong.

It may be that the passage of a few more years—bringing, as it will, further development of the airplane as a military weapon—will make more clear the exact nature of the place which the flying corps will occupy in a future war.

AN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIR.

The revelations made by the Senate munitions investigating committee have come so rapidly that the average citizen is probably pretty confused. But, in his confusion, he is unquestionably developing a very strong resentment against the men who makes vast fortunes out of selling the instruments of death; and if, in the coming session of Congress, there should be a strong move for nationalization of the arms traffic, it would hardly be surprising.

Just how such a program would work out, however, in a world where other nations continue to permit the munitions trade to lie in private hands, is another question. It is possible that negotiations with foreign capitals would have to precede any such step.

For one thing that the investigation has shown clearly is that the munitions trade is an international affair. It may be that only joint international action can put it under proper restraints.

I am tired of hearing Roosevelt described as the most religious president we have ever had. Since he has been president, he has attended church but three times. If ever he comes to my town, he can't get into the pulpit of my church.—Rev. L. R. Phipps, New Castle, Pa.

I'm a peaceful guy who likes to stay out of trouble.—George Raft, film star.

Transportation in some form underlies every human activity.—Carl R. Gray, president Union Pacific Railroad.

The state should keep the individual; not the individual the state.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Tight to the log the Tinkles clung. Said Scooty, "If this could be swung around and headed toward the shore, perhaps we could get in." "I'll be a real hard task, I fear, because the current's swift out here. However, let's all try our luck, and hope that we can win." "Okay," yelled Coppy. "I'll say when. Now, when you hear me yell again, all start to push the log around, and push with all your might." "Upon the log the girls can stay. I fear they just be in our way. The current, too, might take them. Then they'd be in quite a plight."

Soon Coppy gave a quick command to start to push the log toward land. The Tinkles did their very best, but got nowhere at all. "It is no use," said Duncy. "We aren't strong enough, as you can see. If we jerk on the log much more both of the girls will fall."

The monstrous log kept gaining speed. Soon Scooty, who was in the lead, cried, "Look! A rapids is ahead. Oh, things look very bad!" "I know we will be tossed around. I wish that some way could be found to stop this log. This is the worst trip we have ever had."

Just then a great big net appeared. Said Windy, "This is almost weird. I don't know where the net came from, and I don't care, right now."

"Grab hold of it and hang on tight. The log can whiz on, out of sight." The Tinkles did, all hoping they'd be pulled to shore, somehow.

The net then whirled around a bit, and all the bunch were caught in it. "It's moving now," cried Dotty. "Look! A woman's up on shore."

The woman pulled the bunch to land. Said she, "This well I was on hand. I hope you will not try to ride that current any more." Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc. (The Tinkles are put to work in the next story.)

What the News Was Around Dixon in Years Gone By

50 YEARS AGO

395 Republicans from Dixon participated in the parade at Amboy last evening.

General Oglesby, Hon. H. D. Dement and Gen. Elliott of Princeton were guests at the Waverly House last night and took trains east this morning.

At a meeting of Dement's Cadets, resolutions were adopted thanking Mrs. J. Guthrie, Miss Ella Blakesley and Mrs. Preston for gratuitous work on the boy's sashes.

25 YEARS AGO

At a hearing conducted before Judge Farrand, a jury in the Circuit Court reached a settlement with the C. & N. W. Ry. Co., through its attorney, Henry S. Dixon, with Charles Cramer for $100 for the loss of his leg, while alighting from a passenger train at Nelson on May 3, 1909, when he fell under the cars and lost the leg.

Helen, 12, Merrill, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dugan, 523 East Bradshaw street, miraculously escaped death when the milk wagon in which they were riding was struck by an Illinois Central freight train at the North Dement avenue crossing. The horse was killed instantly, the wagon demolished, but the children escaped with only minor cuts and bruises.

10 YEARS AGO

Officials of the J. I. Case Co. have assembled in Dixon for a two days business session.

Ex-Governor Charles S. Deneen addressed large Republican meetings in the Circuit Court room at the court house in behalf of his candidacy for United States Senator.

Glenn F. Coe was named Grand Captain General of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, of Illinois at conclusion of annual convocation at Springfield.

"As men pass before my door," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "I am tempted to join the rush. But too many of them seem struggling to get away from home only for the sake of another struggle to get back to it."

Convenience

Living Our Everyday Lives

INVISIBLE WALLS

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)
How many walls divide us from those near to us. Invisible walls of silence, barriers of constraint and shyness, which we seem unable to break through or climb over!

One of the greatest hindrances to happiness in the home, or among persons closely associated, is the queer fact that intimacy so often seals the lips.

A film of shyness easily grows up between two people, preventing them from giving due expression to their feelings for each other. Why should it be so?

Many people are more natural more completely themselves in the company of strangers than they are with those they love best. How often we see it between husband and wife.

They love each other, they are utterly loyal, yet they seem smitten mute in regard to the deepest things in their lives. They are very faithful, but tongue-tied.

Often it is easier for a boy or a girl to give confidence to an outsider than to a member of the family circle, not because the former are kinder or more sympathetic, but because of a barrier of shyness they cannot pass.

How strange, and what a pity it is! Yet, somehow, we feel a sheer inability to open our hearts unreservedly to those who share our lives most deeply and love us most dearly.

The reason is that if we are accustomed to meet a person habitually on one level of life it is difficult to change that level for another quickly and at will.

Some emotional shock is needed for the readjustment of relations, and we shrink from such shocks. If we live with anyone on the level of the prosaic the humdrum, the trifling, it is difficult to lift our fellowship above that level.

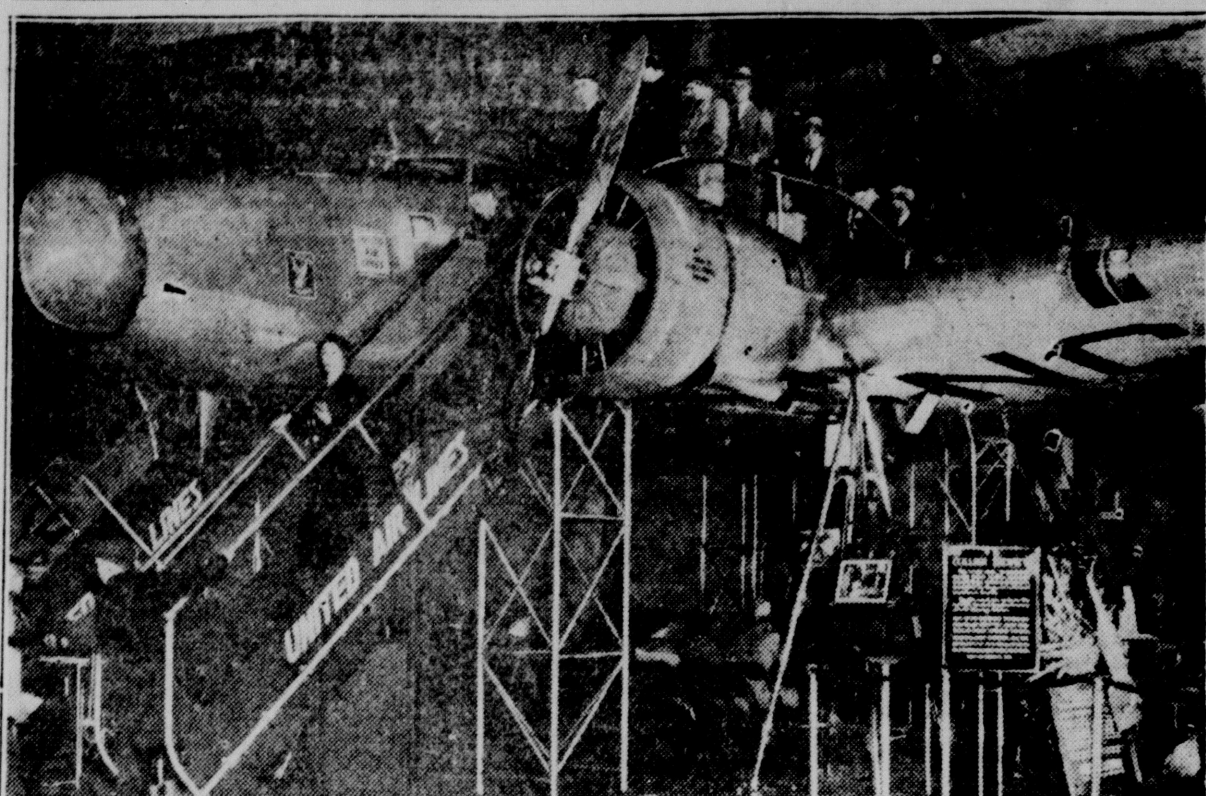

For that reason we ought not to let our love drop into a rut or routine; it robs it of beauty and charm. In time we may grow too far apart to be able to make up the loss.

To be uncommunicative is as fatal as to be fussy and gushy. We dearest to us. Life is lonely enough must not let invisible walls separate us from those nearest and as it is.

Love is the most precious thing in life. It wits and fades unless it finds expression. Do not let it die. (Copyright, 1934, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Fair Crowds Study Latest in Air Transport

The multi-motored Boeing transport of United Air Lines displayed in the dome of the Travel and Transport building at the World's Fair is a sister ship to the plane which Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn flew last week, non-stop, from Seattle to Los Angeles to establish a speed record for long distance flight with multi-motored planes. Their speed was 204.6 miles an hour. To date more than a million people have inspected the interior and pilot's compartment containing all the recently perfected aerial navigation instruments.

Daily Health Talk

INHERITANCE OF DIABETES

The hereditary phase of diabetes that is, the tendency for diabetes to "run in families," has been long known.

Precisely, however, to what extent predisposition to the development of diabetes is determined by hereditary factors is a subject of comparatively recent study.

This matter is of more than academic interest. It has indeed very practical applications. If to be forewarned is to be forearmed, the knowledge that one harbors an hereditary potentiality toward diabetes may serve the individual to safeguard himself against the development of the disease and to assure himself of early and prompt treatment should it develop.

To the subject of inheritance of diabetes, Doctors Joslin, White and Pincus, of Boston, have recently made an interesting contribution.

They made a study of 26 sets of twins 13 of whom were similar and 13 dissimilar. In the similar twins 9 pairs were diabetic. Only 2 pairs were diabetic among the dissimilar twins.

Since similar twins are believed to be derived from the same ovum, it appears like a logical deduction that whatever hereditary factors contribute to the begetting of frank cases of diabetes would operate equally in identical twins. This seems to be well borne out in the study.

The conviction that this hypothesis is correct is further strengthened by a study of the age levels and family histories of both groups of twins. The family histories (of diabetes) in the two groups were nearly identical, since there were three instances of parental diabetes among the dissimilar twins and two among the similar twins. Likewise, both groups of twins were in approximately the same age periods.

The practical conclusions are, if there is diabetes in the family, all the other members should be on the lookout for it.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Instant relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

TIGER INFIELD SUPERIOR; HAS HIGHER AVERAGE

Better Hitters than are Either Cardinals' or Giants'

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Detroit infield quartet of Greenberg, Gehringer, Rogell and Owen may not be able to give a mellow touch to "Sweet Adeline" under the clubhouse shower but they can play harmonious tunes with their bats and put up an ironbound defense against anything the baseball enemy has to offer.

They are four of the main reasons why the Tigers are well equipped to tackle either the Cardinals or the Cardinals in the forthcoming world series. Like a quartet of grenadiers they have stood shoulder to shoulder all season, breaking up opposing attacks and in turn providing most of the ammunition for Detroit's winning rallies.

Fine Batting Average
The best proof of this remarkably durable infield's power is its aggregate batting average of .325. It's sufficient evidence to entitle these Tigers to an all-around edge over either the Giant combination of Terry, Critz, Ryan and Jackson or the Cardinal cast of Collins, Frisch, Durocher and Martin.

The Detroit quartet's margin over the Cardinals in hitting is around 30 points per man and nearer 50 points over the Giants. The clinching evidence is that the Tiger infielders have driven over 425 runs this season as compared to less than 300 by the Cardinal quartet and less than 250 by the Giant inner workers.

Defensively the comparisons are pretty close to being a Mexican standoff. On the one side, Terry and Critz have a slight margin over rival combinations in defensive skill, although there may be some dispute as to this. On the other, the fielding marks of Rogell and Owen are a bit more impressive than those of either possible opposing pair but here again the difference is scarcely noticeable on the diamond.

MAROONS LOOM AS SURPRISE OF BIG TEN TEAMS
Chicago Squad Probably Most Hustling in Conference

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Chicago may do more than pay back its public school teachers this year. Its football team, the University of Chicago Maroons, may pay back its Big Ten football enemies for some of those defeats—with interest.

On form, prospects aren't very bright on the Midway because the team, weakened by the loss of several veterans, must play Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota and Illinois on successive Saturdays. But the squad, possibly the most hustling lot in the Big Ten this season, is proceeding with considerable hope and no fears.

"Maybe we won't do much this season and maybe we'll fumble a few of them," remarked Coach Clark Shaughnessy, "but I like this squad. It reminds me of a flock of Blondy Ryans or Pepper Martins on the loose in a world series baseball game. On the basis of class, I would say that the first string eleven of last season was stronger than this year's, but this year we have better replacements. And I'd rather have it this way. We are much farther along now than last year at this time."

Fight For Jobs
With the exception of Jay Bannister, backfield ace, almost every "regular" on the team is encountering a stiff fight for his job this season. There have been several real surprises so far in two weeks of hard practice and the lineup may be far different than expected. Even the team captain, Eli Patterson, is having a tussle to keep his post away from Bart Peterson, a newcomer. Ed Cullen was rated as a sure starting quarterback but a serious threat looms in Bill Runyan, a speedster standing only five feet four inches from South Haven Michigan.

Rain and cold weather forced many of the Big Ten squads indoors yesterday, but those teams with games Saturday continued their drive. Shifts were numerous as coaches attempted to find a bigger scoring punch. Minnesota was forced indoors for the third successive time and Coach Bernie Bierman still was dissatisfied, but cheering news came to the Gophers with the announcement that Dale Renniebohm, veteran center, had been declared eligible. Renniebohm's return gives the Gophers a complete lineup of veterans.

Coach Noble Kizer gave his Purdue regulars a tongue lashing after they had been held scoreless in scrimmage for 10 minutes. Finally, Vernon Craig broke loose for 75 yards and a touchdown.

SPIRIT OF FIRE APPEARS IN ILLINOIS ATTACKS

Backs Showing Great Attack in Preliminary Contests

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 27.—(AP)—A spirit of fire that has been lacking from the running attacks of Illinois football teams for the last few years seems to have been rejuvenated this season along with talk of title possibilities for the Illini.

Frank Froeschauer, who will be playing his third year in the Illinois backfield, has been more elusive in practice than ever before. He seems to have developed the art of side-stepping and twisting his hips and has been wriggling his way through openings that would have stopped him in other seasons.

Lindberg Adds Zest
Les Lindberg, too, has added a zest to his running game. Lindberg has been held out of scrimmage for the past week because of a knee injury and it is doubtful if he will play against Bradley, unless it should become necessary. Bob Grieve, a speedy sophomore, is being drilled for a halfback position but his 152 pound weight works against him.

Illinois' annual open house for Boy Scouts and school children of the state will be celebrated Saturday. No tickets are being distributed, but all elementary school and high school children will be admitted free. The Boy Scouts will parade from their armory headquarters to the stadium and have charge of the flag raising ceremonies.

CARDINALS AND GIANTS "BLOW" GOOD CHANCES

As Result Possibility of Tie in the National Loop is Looming

By HUGH S. FULLERTON
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The National League pennant issue was put squarely up to the Cardinals today as they opened their final four-game series against the last-place Reds while the Giants began a two-day layoff before completing their season against Brooklyn Saturday and Sunday.

Both leaders cracked unexpectedly yesterday and as a result the Cards still were a game behind and had just enough extra games on their schedule to make up that difference. They play four and New York only two unless the weather interferes.

At the stage where one defeat may wreck the pennant hopes of either club, it looked as if the Giants had "blown" their chance yesterday when a passed ball by Gus Mancuso gave the Phillies the run needed to take their second straight from the league leaders. But St. Louis hadn't reckoned with Waite Hoyt, the Pirate veteran. Hoyt shut out the Cards, 3 to 0, giving them only two hits and the rivals were back where they started. A victory would have put the Cards one point ahead.

After the two upsets the possibility of the first pennant tie in league history loomed, as both the Giants and Cards have been highly successful this year against their finishing opponents. Brooklyn has won only six games out of 20 from the Giants. The Cards have won 12 and lost six against Cincinnati.

Detroit's champion Tigers gave a convincing demonstration of power as they walked off the White Sox twice, 12 to 10 and 10 to 3.

The Dodgers cut Boston's fourth-place margin over Pittsburgh to half a game by trimming the Braves 3 to 1 behind Johnny Babich. The Yanks, with rookie Charley Devens pitching the full route, defeated the Athletics in eleven frames, 4 to 3, and Willis Hudlin's five-hit hurling carried the Indians to a 6 to 2 decision over the Browns.

Cincinnati and Chicago in the National League and Washington and Boston in the American had open dates.

home run was winning margin in defeat of Athletics.

PRISON TEAM'S COACH WORRIED OVER NEW RULE

Several Of Joliet's Stars Cannot Play on Gridiron

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Convict L. G. Bradley, coach of the Joliet prison football team is downright gloomy about the fall outlook for his squad.

The newly adopted three year rule is the thing that is worrying him most for under it some of the very best material will not be available this year. The rule was adopted after newly received convicts protested that choice positions on the "varsity" were held by murderers and other long term inmates who showed no signs of vacating.

As a result eight lettermen were lost when the authorities held they could play only three successive seasons. To make matters worse a couple of Chicago burglars who used to play some nice football were held ineligible because they flunked their correspondence course in English examinations.

The team opens with a Chicago semi-professional squad Oct. 6. Other games have been scheduled with teams from Springfield, Peoria and Galesburg.

GOPHER'S COACH NOT SO SURE HE WILL TAKE FLAG

Hedges a Little on the Prophecy He Made Back in 1932

Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Words spoken two years ago have come home to roost on the doorstep of Bernie Bierman in the midst of his disappointment over progress of the Minnesota football squad.

It was in 1932 that the Gophers' head man, speaking of championship prospects, said "1934 may be the year." Many sports followers are picking Minnesota to win the Big Ten title this season but Bierman isn't so sure, despite what he said two years ago.

"I can't say we're going to win any championship," he mourned today. "We'll have a pretty good team, but every other team in the conference will be stronger just as well as we."
"The Gophers are not as advanced as they should be at this stage of the game," he added between efforts to pump more speed into the maroon and gold eleven. "They have not come along as fast as everyone had an idea they would and I must admit that I really don't know just where I am, because of the lack of opportunity to watch the new boys under fire."

TRY THE CIGAR FOR 5c THAT HAS LONG-FILLER HAVANA

If the cigar you buy doesn't contain Havana—you are missing the one thing that adds the greatest enjoyment to your smoke. Here's the way to prove it.

Try PHILLIES. You'll notice the rich, mild, satisfying flavor. That's the Havana. A long-filler Havana blended with the finest domestic that money can buy. No tobaccos ordinarily used in 5c cigars could give this flavor.

The long-filler Havana in PHILLIES—at 5c—is the same in quantity and quality as when—at 10c—it out-sold every other 10c brand in America. We believe you will enjoy PHILLIES. It pleases the taste of more men than any other cigar.

Bayuk's Guarantee
In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (famously known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine Imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Domestic and Havana long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

Soap of Early Times
The use of soap is of great antiquity. A soap factory was found by the excavators of Pompeii. Soap was in use in Italy and Spain in the Eighth century; in France in the Twelfth century; and in England in the late Fourteenth or early Fifteenth century.

RICHARDS STONE MARKS BIRTH OF METHODISM HERE

Dedication Ceremonies Mark Epoch in Local Church History

The dedication of a granite boulder in Lowell Park where John and Ann Richards built their home, almost one hundred years ago, Sunday afternoon was felt by the large crowd present to be an occasion of large significance. The weather was lovely. As the long procession of cars followed the north-west road in the park, the trees, foliage and underbrush presented a picture of rare beauty. All were in good mood. The late afternoon sunlight fell upon the river below the valley shelter where the exercises were conducted, and lighted the wooded hills beyond. The vista was so bewitchingly beautiful from the improvised platform that all felt that the Richards could not have chosen more wisely for their home site.

Henry A. Ahrens guided the people in singing the Dology, and the Rev. L. W. Walter, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, offered prayer. Former Mayor F. D. Palmer, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the church, in a brief but highly fitting address, presented Attorney Harry C. Warner as the chairman of the meeting.

Warner Presided. It would be difficult to imagine a happier choice of one fitted to respond to the significance of the occasion. His parents, as Mr. Palmer has just pointed out, were honored members of the church and he himself is a trustee and loyal supporter. Mr. Warner spoke with characteristic clearness of the Richards, their part in founding Dixon Methodism, and expressed the gratitude of the church to the Park Board for its interest and cooperation in placing a suitable stone where future generations could read its message and interpret its meaning. He exhibited a copy of the New Testament which had belonged to John Richards and had often been used by his parents in services conducted by John Wesley in Cornwall, England. In his little book on Dixon Methodism (1932) Bowman Neighbour states that John Richards was born in 1788 and so must be two years the possibility of seeing Wesley. The presence of this copy of the Scriptures calls attention to the direct connection of Dixon Methodism with the Wesley movement.

Mr. Warner then presented Edward W. Valle who represented the Mayor of Dixon and the Park Board. Mr. Valle's address appeared in a recent issue of the Dixon Telegraph. It was highly fitting both in its felicitations of the church and the recitation of local history, growing out, as it did, of New England and Southern Civilizations.

Chicago Pastor Spoke. The chairman then introduced the Rev. Almer M. Pennewell, D. D., pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church of Chicago. Dr. Pennewell is in charge of a movement to secure and interpret Methodist facts in Illinois. This movement is collecting antiques and documents that have early Methodist connections. These articles are stored in a fireproof room at the Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston.

The address was in blank verse and was an ode to Illinois Methodism. It was brilliantly conceived and couched in semi-classic language. The thought moved swiftly on silver wings, painting pictures of the rivers, the inland sea, the wide plains, dense forests; the red men, rugged pioneers moving in waves from the east and south; brave men of the saddle-bags, camp meetings, altar fires, mighty convictions, and the glowing sense of the presence and leading of the Spirit of God.

In quiet voice the orator began: This is a fair and virgin land, A Western Garden of God, Yearning for some creative urge To loose its latent powers And bring forth a virile race.

The speaker, his back to the ample fireplace in which logs slowly burned, his face toward the meandering river aglow with light from an autumnal sun and the history of the community alive in everyone's mind, seemed to sense the wistful waiting of his audience and the challenge of the hour. The introduction is finished. The material aspects of the coming of the Methodists to Illinois well disposed of, in deep feeling, Dr. Pennewell is now saying:

The circuit riders come The circuit riders come Who scout the farthest man And calls him to the blood-stained banner of the Lord. They wind the horn of Christ Down by the water holes And call to camp. The scattered children of the Lord And raise the battle cry of God: "There is a fountain filled with blood, Drawn from Immanuel's veins, And sinners plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains." From the south they come, Jesse Walker, Peter Borten, Joseph Lillard, Peter Cartright and others. Right well did the orator set his stage and move upon it with its illustrious actors.

Other Achievements. In rapid succession the story is told of the founding of Northwestern University, Garrett Biblical Institute, hospitals, orphanages, colleges and secondary schools, the building of a church in every township in the state, culminating in the erection of City Temple, Chicago.

The preacher brings his message to a close in the following exhortation: O Methodists, gird yourselves anew The open road is calling you to march With swift and certain feet. The Christ of God to free the Son of Man. Redeemable from sin to a tent of $40,000.

Moline Pastor to Hold Series of Meetings Here

REV. W. B. SLATER

The First Christian Church of Dixon will open a series of evangelistic services next Sunday evening under the leadership of Rev. W. B. Slater, pastor of the First Christian church of Moline. The services are scheduled to continue over a period of two weeks.

The coming of Rev. Slater was brought about by an arrangement between him and Rev. James A. Barnett, pastor of the local church to exchange meetings this fall. Rev. Barnett will hold the return meeting at the Moline church the first two weeks of November.

Rev. Slater does not come as a stranger to Dixon, as he held a meeting here about eight years ago under a similar arrangement for an exchange of meetings with Rev. B. H. Cleaver, then local pastor. His many friends will be glad to welcome him and to sit under his inspiring preaching again.

Under two pastorate in Moline, approximately twenty-five years of service, Rev. Slater has accomplished splendid success, building up a strong church organization and leading in the erection of one of the finest church buildings in the twin cities. He has won distinction throughout the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ, as a great pastor and preacher, and is greatly beloved by all who knew him because of his charming personality and sterling christian character.

The first services of the series will be held Sunday evening at 7:30. The church choir will be expanded into a large chorus and under the leadership of Miss Ott Floto director, will lead in the praise services and will furnish a special number each evening. Rev. Barnett is also forming a junior choir which will assist in the song services and sing special choruses and songs during the revival. The meetings are scheduled to continue nightly at 7:30 until Oct. 15.

strangling past And send him singing down the road Again to fire the minds of men with dreams Of vast empire of truth and beauty Wrought in love.

At this point the pastor and people read respectively the twenty-fourth Psalm and pronounced the following dedicatory ritual which had been written for the occasion:

To the courageous pioneers who, braving bandits, hardships and cruelties of a century ago, erected their home on this site:

We Dedicate This Stone To the builders of a Christian home in the wilderness in the faith that civil and political liberty would prevail:

We Dedicate This Stone To humble souls who brought in their hearts the fire of the Wesleyan Movement and contributed to the founding of the Methodist Episcopal church at Dixon's Ferry:

To the perpetuity of the Christian home; the validity of the Gospel of Christ in humble hearts; the Christian pioneer as he "follows the gleam"; and the glory of the All-Wise God who reigns and shall reign, world without end.

We Dedicate This Stone. Dr. Leon L. Hammit of DeKalb, who was on the program for the closing prayer could not be present. He sent the following statement: "The Dixon church is to be congratulated upon its long and useful career in the Rock River Conference. I know of no other church that is more loyal to the principles which have given to Methodism its great influence on American ideals and life.

Faithful in its support of our institutions, untiring in its effort to promote that which is best, devoted in its services, great in its sacrifices for all good things, reverent in its spirit, the Dixon church continues to be an inspiration and helpful example of our churches. My prayer is that it may long continue to be a leader, not only in the community in which it is located, but among all of our churches in the conference.

After the benediction by the pastor, the people were invited to admire the stone and read its message in bronze, which is as follows: "John Richards and wife, Ann, members of the First Methodist Class of Seven, organized May 7, 1837 at Dixon's Ferry, built their home of this site in 1839. This memorial dedicated Sept. 23, 1934.

NEW BOARD TO STUDY TEXTILE WORKERS CHARGE

Will Investigate Allegation of Discrimination at Once

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Three veteran conciliators chosen by President Roosevelt plan swift steps to delve deep into charges that textile mill owners are discriminating against men involved in the recent strike.

To investigate these complaints—which have brought demands from operators—a "task force" committee was the first task imposed on the board when the President named it last night.

The board's personnel—identical with the membership of the steel labor board—is: Walter P. Stacy, chief of the North Carolina Supreme court, chairman; Read Admiral Henry A. Wiley, retired; and James Mullenback, noted Chicago labor arbitrator.

Given Wide Powers. Seeking to settle all disputes that tore the industry, the board is empowered to investigate any collective bargaining complaints and refer its findings "to proper governmental agencies for approval" to act as arbitrators, and to hold secret elections for collective bargaining.

The President's order approved "majority rule," a point of bitter dispute in labor controversies. He said that representatives chosen for collective bargaining by a majority of workers shall represent the workers.

Follows Recommendation. The appointment of the board follows a recommendation made by the Winant mediation committee whose findings led the United Textile Workers to call off the strike.

The President also directed the bureau of labor statistics to study hours, earnings and conditions in the industry and ordered the federal trade commission to report on labor costs, profits and investments. The commission must determine whether wage increases are justified under prevailing conditions.

STORY OF STUDY OF YEARS BACKS DIXON LECTURE

crop farming. As a pioneer in livestock farming, therefore, the elder Murphy "set the pace" in his community by developing a successful and profitable livestock enterprise on the old homestead.

First Hand Data. His son, F. E. Murphy, determined to study farming conditions at first hand after the World War spent three years on a grain farm in the heart of the wheat growing area of Minnesota. There he renewed the earlier experiences of his father, discovered anew the fact that grains could not be grown profitably on the same soils year after year and also gained a new vision of the possibilities of livestock and diversified dairy farming. He also was impressed with the wide gap that too often exists between town and country folks, even in all-agricultural communities.

"I found I might as well have been banished to the wilds of Patagonia," he said, "for all the interest my city friends took in my farm or my farm neighbor's welfare. Even the people living five miles away in the little town where we traded were singularly indifferent to their best store customers' interests."

Woke Up City Folks. "I determined to remedy that, if possible." As soon as he took active charge of the Tribune as publisher in 1921 (following the death of his brother W. J. Murphy, the former publisher) this city man with a new farm vision began a vigorous campaign in his newspaper to wake up city and town people, and sell them on the idea of taking an active interest in farm problems.

Meanwhile he developed Pemo farms, a 6,000-acre, dairy and livestock enterprise, carrying today more than 250 pure-bred Holsteins. An experienced farm paper man, Mr. Collisson was employed to write about "good farming with good livestock." Written in a popular, readable style, his full page illustrated farm development story became a regular and popular feature of the Sunday Tribune. This was a unique and unusual stunt for a city newspaper and these two men pioneered in an entirely new field of metropolitan journalism—that of interpreting farming and its problems to the banker, merchant and city business man. This was done in a way never before attempted by a metropolitan newspaper, but since followed by a number of city papers.

The farm editor never attempted to preach to the business man or the farmer or to give "farm advice." His stories, in the main, did not feature the experiences of successful farmers themselves in solving their problems. Especial emphasis was laid, however, on the activities of business men in cooperating with their farm neighbors in building up sound, permanent community agriculture.

From Actual Sources. The value of these stories lay in the fact that they were drawn from actual source materials. The editor traveled extensively and intensively all over the territory from the Great Lakes to the Rocky Mountains for years as the recorder and interpreter of all its farm development movements and enterprises.

Hundreds of communities were visited and "written up." Thousands of business men and farmers heard addresses on the same subject of "good farming with good livestock" from the publisher, the farm editor and other members of the staff.

The reactions were remarkable and immediate. When the movement started, very little was being done systematically by business men and their organizations, to establish good farming. Within three years, these activities had grown so popular and the idea had so "taken hold," that it was impossible to keep track of them.

Mr. Collisson's stories continued to be popular feature of the Tribune for more than ten years. For the past three years his addresses have been heard all over the eastern part of the United States, from Boston to the Rockies, from Maine to Alabama. Everywhere they have been received with acclaim and enthusiasm.

The Literary Digest said: "Cow-Sow-Hen-Sheep." That crisp combination is being offered to the harassed American farmer as the magic formula that will pay off his mortgage, and perhaps give him a car and a bank account. From the Northwest comes the story of how the agricultural revolution has dethroned wheat as king and greatly improved the condition of the farmer in the four states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana.

A ten-year program of diversification—the cow-sow-hen-sheep formula—did it. Its sponsors are advocating the same formula for the nation—"follow the cowpath to prosperity." Chief backer of the Minnesota plan, it is sometimes called, is F. E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune. Another conspicuous leader in the movement is

Charles F. Collisson, the Tribune agricultural editor.

"Recently they brought to Wall street and Washington the story of how the Northwest gave up one-crop farming. What has been done in the Northwest, they say, can be done elsewhere. In Mr. Collisson's words, farmers are working out their farm plan of by making their own way out of debt on their own farms, not in Washington."

"New York bankers and brokers heard with amazement from Mr. Collisson, wrote Bradley W. Trent, of the Consolidated Press Association, that diversified farming, replacing single crop farming, has increased the farm revenues of the four Northwestern states nearly $700,000,000 in the last ten years."

ROXBURY

By Olive Merriman

Roxbury—Monday morning as Wm. Bittner was doing his chores, he found that a horse had broken through a fence around his windmill and had fallen in the well.

The horse was pawing and could not more than keep its head above the water. Charles Merriman and several others were summoned and by means of ropes and the tractor the horse was finally rescued. It is not known how long the horse was in the well. Dr. Dicke was called to care for the horse so it would not contract pneumonia. That afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Bittner were repairing the fence around the mill when the team of horses, hitched to a wagon, started to run. They ran to stop the horses and looking back they saw the windmill fall over and smash to the ground. Evidently the horses had seen it falling and started to run, otherwise someone might have been seriously hurt.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and out." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, among when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25-cent drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

OGLE FARMERS TO HOLD GROUP MEETINGS, TOO

Community Gatherings
Will be Held Tomorrow Evening

The Ogle County Corn-Hog Allotment Committee has given out the following information regarding the disposal of extra hogs by Corn-Hog Contract signers. There are only four options for the disposal of these hogs:

1. The signer may kill them.
2. He may give them to organized relief.
3. He may keep them and pay a penalty of $20 per head.
4. He may keep them and forfeit his contract and entire allotment payment.

Those who wish to give these extra hogs for relief purposes must notify Farm Adviser D. E. Warren of the number of such hogs for disposal. He will authorize William Beaman who is in charge of the disposal of the hogs, and the hogs may be brought to the collecting points for which Mr. Beaman is now making arrangements.

The committee points out that it is a very serious matter for any signer to attempt to sell extra hogs or dispose of them in any other way than those above mentioned.

Sales Accounts
Every contract signer will be required to account for all sales of pigs made since the contract was signed. Buyers will also be required to tell where they purchased pigs they have bought. All pigs sold will be held against the allotted quota received for market for each signer.

It is pointed out that it will be much better for the signer to dispose of small pigs in the prescribed way than to attempt to sell them and later find that he has heavy hogs which are additional to his quota and which he must either give away or pay a penalty of $20.00 per head.

The allotment committee is told to enforce the law and will require a strict accounting from every contract signer as to the disposal of all pigs raised.

Loans Must Be Paid
All present outstanding corn loans will expire October 15th and must be paid before that date according to word received at the office at Oregon.

Those, however, who wish their loans to continue for a longer time may renew them at the rate of 55c per bushel by making application in the same manner as was done before and having the new certificates and receipts and new certificates made. Either old or new corn will be acceptable collateral on the new loans.

The maturity date of the loan is June 30, 1935 and the loan may be called if the price of corn reaches 90c.

Community Meetings
Livestock Marketing is the subject to be discussed at several Farm Community Meetings to be held on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by the Farm Bureau at Blair's hall, Adelphi; Mt. Morris town hall, Mt. Morris; Leaf River high school; Masonic hall, Polo; Stillman Valley high school and other places will feature the livestock Marketing program.

A feature of the program will be radio talks at 8 o'clock from WENR by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association and P. O. Wilson, manager of the National Livestock Marketing Association.

Farmers are cordially invited to attend any of the local meeting or to listen to these programs on their own radios.

Stop Irritating Your Digestive Tract

Avoid Laxatives That Constipate. Nature's Way—a Gentle Flush

Medicine-laxatives—no matter how pleasant tasting—often cause the intestinal muscles to become sluggish, lazy. For most of them work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract.

PLUTO WATER is a saline mineral water—not a medicine-laxative. It owes its speed to the fact that it promptly opens the pylorus valve leading to the small intestine. It flushes both intestines gently and completely. It is non-irritating—cannot give you the laxative habit. The proper dilution—one fifth glass of Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water is practically tasteless. The same dose each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour. Two sizes: Split, 25c. Large bottles (3 times as much), 50c. On sale at drug stores everywhere.
